SECRETARY'S OFFICE; December, 1844.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :

I have the honor to present the following Report of proceedings had agreeably to the Act of 1844 (chapter 159) "relating to the Registry and Returns of Births, Marriages and Deaths."

Immediately upon the passage of the Act, measures were taken to procure the blank books for registration required by the seventh section. In the month of May they were ready for delivery, and were forwarded by the earliest opportunities to the towns. The pages of the Registers were ruled in columns so as to receive entries of the various particulars required by the law. They are of good paper, and in durable binding. They are of four different sizes, to correspond in some degree to the population of the respective towns. The books furnished to the smallest corporations will probably not be filled in ten years; the others will need to be sooner renewed. Three Registers were furnished to the city of Boston, for Births, Marriages and Deaths, respectively. The whole cost of the volumes was six hundred and fifty dollars.

The law was published in the official newspaper immediately upon its enactment. On the 15th of April, I addressed a circular letter to the town clerks, communicating a copy of the law, and then proceeding as follows :

"This act, you will observe, contains the provision that it shall take effect from and after its passage. You will accordingly, in conformity to the first section, make your next return to this office in June, instead of May, as heretofore.

It may seem to you, at first view, that there is a discrepancy in the law in respect to the limit of the registration year. The first section directs the clerks to transmit, in June, a record 'of Births, Marriages and Deaths which have occurred within their respective towns during the year next preceding the first day of said month,' while the second section directs the school committees annually to make returns in May, of 'all the births which have happened during the year next preceding the first day of said May.' The latter provision is so express as to leave no doubt of what was intended in respect to births; and it was evidently the intention of the Legislature that the registration year should have the same limits for marriages and deaths as for births. Further; the law, when it directs the clerks to make their returns to the Secretary in June, leaves them at liberty to make it in the first days of that month, at which time the latest returns of marriages and deaths in their possession will be of such as took place in April. Accordingly, your annual return to this office will include births, marriages and deaths happening in the 'year next preceding the first day of May.'

According to the terms of the act, your returns of all births, &c., since its passage, should include all the particulars specified in the blanks which I this day transmit to you. It is probable, however, that the law may not yet have become known, through the customary method of publication, to all the officers and others on whom it imposes obligations; and that therefore your returns, for the whole year about to close, will prove imperfect in respect to particulars not contemplated in the former act. You will be pleased, in your return in June next, to make entries in the blanks as full as your materials permit. In the next year a much closer approximation to completeness may be looked for.

In respect to births, however, of which the census is required by the law to be made by the school committee in the month of May, it may be expected that your return will be full. To this end it is desirable that you should, without delay, confer with the school committee of your town on the subject, that they may seasonably decide on some efficient plan of operations. I send you duplicate blanks for returns of births, one for the committee's return to you, the other for your return to this office.

The blanks for returns of marriages and deaths, which I transmit at the same time, can be enlarged by you according to the length of the return.

* * * * *

I respectfully ask your careful attention and aid in carrying out the designs of the Legislature. You will not fail to perceive the great importance of immediate exertion on the part of the town clerks in calling the attention of those from whom they are to receive reports, to the duty enjoined on them by the law."

Along with the Registers, the following circular letter was sent to the Town Clerks:

"SIR,—Herewith you will receive a blank book, prepared for the record required by the Act of March 16th, 1844, to be made of Births, Marriages and Deaths, by the town clerk of

In the beginning of the volume you will find a copy of the Act. The blank space on the reverse of the page may be used for entering any laws hereafter made in relation to the subject.

You will observe that you are to enter only births, marriages and deaths, taking place in your own town. These events in families of your citizens, if they do not occur within your town limits, do not belong to your record.

The ruled columns contain spaces for a few classes of entries, which you are not required by law to make, viz: one for the name of the informant, under all the heads; one for the place of interment, under the head of deaths; and spaces for the place of birth of the parties, and the occupation and residence of their parents, under that of marriages. As to filling these spaces, and soliciting information for that purpose, the clerks are of course at liberty to be governed by their own judgment.

The blank in the line at the head of each left hand page of the Register will receive the entry, required by law, of the place in which births, &c., occur. But in the pages for the record of births, there is also a column headed place of births, in which some clerks, particularly of large towns, or of such as contain different villages, may be inclined to enter the parts of the town in which the births respectively took place.

I respectfully suggest that, in the entry of diseases under the head of deaths, it will be best to adopt the popular names. These are thought, on the whole, to afford the best basis for the scientific arrangement, which ought to be made, when the returns come to be collected into tables.

Each successive town clerk should take care that his signature, at the head of each right hand page of the Register, stands over no other entries than what have been made by himself.

Trusting that your best exertions will be used to carry out the objects of the Legislature in establishing this system,

I have the honor to be," &c.

Returns of Births have been received from 288 towns, of Marriages from 289 towns, and of Deaths from 281 towns. There remain 20 towns without returns of births, 19 towns without returns of marriages, and 27 towns without returns of deaths, besides the two districts of Boston Corner and Marshpee.

A portion of the returns were not made within the time prescribed by law; and a few were made so late as to occasion much extra trouble in the preparation of the Tables.

A large portion of the returns are more or less imperfect in some of the particulars required by law. A great part of this imperfection is fully explained by the fact that, when the law went into effect, it was already too late to obtain, for this registration year, many of the particulars required by it. For the most part the town clerks have shown a commendable interest in the object, and in some instances they have taken great pains to carry the law fully into effect. Also, in some instances, the school committees have used great diligence in their department to collect information respecting the births.

Some of the imperfections are noticed in the marginal notes to the Tables; and in a few instances commendation is there given. But it is not to be inferred that other returns do not equally deserve favorable notice. These memoranda were made from time to time when a return was under the eye for a different purpose, and without strict comparison of one with another.

Among the imperfections in the Returns, the town clerks have omitted in many instances the number of the births, marriages and deaths. Sometimes the number is put down 1 consecutively, and in a few instances the number is erroneously added up. Also they have often omitted to note the time "when registered," as required by law.

Had the information respecting births been communicated to the town clerks in the month of May, and of marriages and deaths between the first and tenth day of each month for the preceding month, as it is to be hoped has been done since the publication of the law, the entries on the town record could easily have been made in chronological order, which would have been of service hereafter in consulting the record, and would have facilitated the preparation of the Tables.

The blank forms sent to the town clerks required the return of births, marriages and deaths for the year next preceding May 1, 1844. In a few instances the town clerks changed the date from May 1, to June 1. In a few instances the return appears to include some cases occurring in May and June, 1844. These instances are presumed to be clerical errors. On one return of births the record purports to commence in January, 1843, and extends to March 31, 1844. They are all included on the presumption of a clerical error.

Very frequently the names of children are not given.— Sometimes the sex also is omitted, and can only be inferred from the Christian name. Sometimes the sex is not to be inferred from any entry on the record, and we have been obliged to consider these instances as "not stated." Again, when the sex is omitted, and a name is entered, it has been difficult in some instances to determine the sex, the names having probably undergone changes in the spelling in the course of time. This shows the importance of recording both the name and the sex.

The date of the birth is generally stated, the omissions being less than 1 in 112.

The name and surname of the father are generally mentioned, while frequently those of the mother are omitted. Sometimes the name of the mother only is entered. In two instances neither the name nor the surname of either parent is mentioned, the children being foundlings. A few children are entered as illegitimate. The occupation of the father is in a great majority of cases stated, being omitted in 1 case out of 17. The occupations are very various, and are such as we should expect from what we know of the employments of the people generally in the different parts of the Commonwealth.

The residence of parents is often omitted in the column designed for that entry on the return, and is presumed to have been in the town from whence the return is made, unless otherwise indicated.

The law imposes the duty of collecting the information respecting births upon the school committees, "annually in the month of May." Some town clerks have suggested that it would have been better to impose this duty upon the Assessors, who are in the habit of visiting every house in May or June, for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of taxable property, and the number of taxable polls in each town.

It is to be regretted that there have been so many delinquencies on the part of school committees, in collecting information respecting births, in consequence of which the returns are imperfect in many essential particulars. In some instances the town clerks have in a great measure supplied these deficiencies by their personal inquiries.

The returns of marriages are extremely defective. It may be well to present a view of this part of the case in some extracts from letters of town clerks.

The town clerk of Andover says, "the number of marriages in the town of Andover during the year next preceding May 1, 1844, was to me unknown—nineteen only recorded on the town Records. The number of publishments is fifty in the same time. One of the Pastors of the (oldest) Congregational church has not made any return of marriages for the last eight years, as appears by the record.* Such facts as I knew I have added."

The town clerk of Erving says, "the attention of the minister of this place, has been twice called to this subject by the town clerk; but he still neglects to make any return of the marriages."

The town clerk of Fairhaven says, "you will also perceive that there are but eleven marriages returned, and one of these was in New Bedford, and not included in the Tables. They are often solemnized by persons living out of town, who with those living in town, have been very negligent about making the returns required by law; and many of those that are made, are extremely deficient in giving the required information. There must have been about thirty-eight marriages solemnized the past year."—"I have issued Blanks and Instructions to most of those persons who are permitted to solemnize marriages, and also to those having the care of burial grounds in this town, requiring them to bring in an account of marriages and deaths monthly; and I think that the present law will in a good degree be complied with."

The town clerk of Falmouth says, "it is impossible to make any returns of marriages, as the persons whose duty it is to report them, have not performed their duty."

Statements of this kind might be multiplied, showing the negligence of those authorized to solemnize marriages, in furnishing the means of a record to the town clerk. Considering the value of this record, and of having it accessible to those interested, on account of the peace of individuals and of families, and also on account of litigated claims to property, it is surprising that any persons capable of perceiving how much the rights and the happiness of their fellow men may suffer from their remissness, should be so grossly negligent. In several cases which have come under the notice of this office during the past year, the most serious difficulty has occurred in proving a title to a valuable pension for revolutionary services, for want of evidence of the marriage of the widow interested in the claim.

Besides the neglect to make any returns to the town clerks by those authorized to solemnize marriages, there are other causes to produce imperfections in the returns to the Secretary. In some places the law is not merely not complied with, but the purposes of a Registration do not seem to have been by any means fully appreciated.

The condition of the parties is omitted in nearly half of the cases in the returns. Though the law (sec. 1.) is explicit in defining what constitutes the condition, (whether single or widowed;) there have been mistakes in a few instances as to the meaning of this word in the law, as if it referred to color, to health, to property, &c.; for one return has under condition, "white;" another, "healthy," "I don't know," "well," "sick;" and another, "good," "comfortable," "don't know," "ordinary," "not good;" and another, "moderate," "wealthy;" and another has three interrogation points thus: "???"

Considering that the law requiring the ages of the parties married, went into operation, March 16, 1844, only about six weeks before the close of the year embraced by the returns, it is creditable to the town clerks and others, that the returns show the ages of 1,141 persons married, which is more than an eighth part of the whole number, and a larger proportion than the six weeks bear to the year. The results derived from the ages of the parties are imperfect of course, but they may serve as an approximation for a comparison with the results in other countries.

There seems to be a delicacy on the part of those authorized to solemnize marriages, as to obtaining some facts required by the present law, especially the ages of the parties. Had the law required the parties, to inform the town clerk of the facts in relation to marriage, before the entry for publishment, and made it his duty to enter these facts on his certificate of publishment, they would perhaps have been more easily and more fully obtained. Then the clergyman or magistrate might have certified the marriage of the parties within named, together with the date and the place. The certificate thus endorsed, would then be returned to the town clerk to be recorded by him among the marriages, by the minister or magistrate.

The returns relating to the occupation of the parties, though imperfect, show to a great extent the various kinds of employment pursued in the different parts of the Commonwealth.

As to the Date of Marriage, a most important item, the omission is total or partial in 113 instances, or in about one fortieth part of the whole number.

The name, residence and official station of the person by whom the parties were married, are generally stated, but the returns are imperfect in relation to the place of residence of the parties at the time of marriage, and also in relation to the name and surname of the parents.

In many instances the marriages are not numbered at all; in several instances they are numbered wrong, so that it was necessary to count the number or verify it in other ways, even when they had their number in the proper column, and when their number was on the first line of the return. Sometimes they were numbered simply 1, instead of being numbered in numerical order, as was obviously the design of the statute. Sometimes the number on the first line of the return is put down in figures, instead of being written out at length in letters as it should be.

Almost without exception, there has been manifested a disposition and an earnest wish, on the part of the town clerks, to conform to the requisitions of that part of the law, which respects marriages, and special pains seem to have been taken by many of them, to furnish the particulars required. In many towns, from which the returns are now imperfect, assurances are given that means are in a train for furnishing a much more perfect return of marriages for the current year.

Generally speaking there seems to be in the towns, a strong desire for a good system of registration of marriages, and a disposition to aid in establishing such a system throughout the Commonwealth.

One cause of the imperfection of the present returns, is the practice in some of the border towns, of going into the adjoining states to be married, without being published in this Commonwealth.

The law requires (Sect. 1.) the towns clerks to number the deaths, and record them in the order in which they are received, together with the facts relating to them, and to note the time when the record is made. There are many imperfections on the returns in these particulars.

By the fourth section it is required that each sexton, or other person having charge of any burial ground in this Commonwealth, shall, on or before the tenth day of each month, make returns of all the facts required by the first section, connected with the death of any person whose burial he may have superintended during the month next preceding, to the clerk of the town or city in which such deceased person resided at the time of his death.

These facts have been very imperfectly reported to the town clerks, as appears from the returns and from letters received from the town clerks. In many instances it is even left very much to conjecture what the number of deaths has been during the year.

The town clerk of Hopkinton says, "the probable number of deaths that have occurred in this town during the past year, is some four times the number returned. And I would suggest that the returns must necessarily be imperfect, until some means are devised to compel by penalty, or induce by an adequate compensation, those whose duty it is to return to town clerks. I refer more particularly to the duty of sextons." The town clerk of Royalston says, "I have not been able to obtain the necessary information in regard to persons deceased, so as to answer the requirements of the law in filling up the columns, as the inhabitants of the town have not heretofore paid any attention in having births and deaths recorded; and in order to make out this return, I have made such inquiries as to enable me to get at the number of deaths, and to state in the separate columns in regard to such as I am acquainted with; as to place of birth, parents, &c. &c. * * * Hereafter I think there will be more attention paid to the law in regard to registration, as soon as the officers and others on whom it imposes the duties of making the returns to the clerks, become acquainted with what is required of them; and the law shall have my aid and attention in carrying out its designs." The town clerk of Sutton says, "I think this not to contain all the deaths that have occurred in the town of Sutton, for the year ending May 1, 1844, as I have taken most of them from the newspapers. There are eighteen burial grounds in the town of Sutton; and no overseer to either of them except to the private burial grounds." The town clerk of Upton says, "This blank is filled up from a memorandum blank kept by a person for his curiosity, to know how many deaths there were in town; there has not been a death given to me to record for the last year; on that account I have no official documents to make out the return." The town clerk of Shelburne says, "the return is believed to be perfectly accurate as to the number of deaths and ages, and also the date of death. The return for the date of registration, I have left blank, as I was at the trouble of gaining the information and particulars required by the blank, by visiting the families personally,—and they were registered when the blank was filled out." The town clerk of Florida says, "there have been three deaths in the town within the time above specified; but as there is no record of them, I am unable to fill the blank."

The town clerk of Raynham says, "my return of deaths is imperfect, although correct, I believe, as far as it goes. We have many places for burial, mostly private property, no superintendent of burial grounds or sexton, whose duty it is to give notice of deaths, or of whom information can be obtained, and nobody thinks of returning a death to the clerk of the town. I however, generally get information of the death, of the age (in years) and by taking the trouble, of the disease or cause of death; and I hope hereafter, as the record of births grows more full, to give the ages more exactly." The town clerk of Wareham says, "The whole number of deaths that have occurred in this town for the year ending April 30, 1844, is fifty-eight. I, however, have not been able to obtain information so as to record but thirty-two." The town clerk of Eastham says, "The within blank is filled according to the best information that I could conveniently obtain, for there has not been a death returned within the last year; but it is not as full as I should wish, but I cannot avoid it the present year." The town clerk of Wellfleet says, "one of the sextons has made a full and correct report for the year, and one rather an imperfect one—probably not three-fourths of what came within his limits. The other and last has made no report at all, notwithstanding I have requested him so to do; probably the above list of [24] names are not more than three-fourths that have died during the year preceding the last day of April last."

The above extracts show the neglect which has prevailed on the part of sextons, in many of the towns, in reporting to the town clerks the facts required by the law, in relation to deaths. They show also the personal exertions of town clerks in some instances to procure information. There are instances in which more attention has been given to registration, and a more successful result attained. The town clerk of Oxford says, "I herewith return to your office thirty-two deaths that have occurred in this town for the year prior to May 1, 1844." "The deaths and marriages were returned promptly. The town clerk of Plympton, long well known for exactness in all that pertains to the duties of his office, says, "In the year ending April 30, 1844, there was an unusual number of deaths in Plympton. From statistical tables kept in the records of the town of Plympton, it appears that during thirty years, ending Dec. 31, 1841, the yearly number of deaths in Plympton during said thirty years, was $14\frac{23}{30}$. Also that the ages of all the deceased persons averaged 40 years, 10 months, $25\frac{15}{14}$ days." The town clerk of Falmouth says, "the above list [of 33 deaths] is complete and correct. It is believed every death in the town has been recorded."

Two objects seem to be contemplated by the registration law. One of these is to obtain a record of the Births, Marriages and Deaths, with certain facts connected with them, in every town and city; and to have certified copies of this record embracing the year next preceding May 1, to be annually sent to the secretary's office; the record and the copy to be accessible to those who may have occasion to consult them. This object has reference chiefly to individuals.

The other object is to have the facts contained in these records, embodied in such a form as shall show the general results to be deduced from the aggregate of these important facts throughout the Commonwealth. This object has regard to those who would take a general view of this important branch of the statistics of a civilized community.

The law has assigned to town clerks and others respectively within small limits, the duty of furnishing the materials, and returning a copy of the same to the Secretary, and requires that the Secretary shall receive the returns, and prepare therefrom such tabular results as will render them of public utility, to be reported to the Legislature. It is left to his discretion to determine the form best adapted to effect the purposes of the law.

In arranging Tables for the annual report, those classes of facts have been selected which would seem to be most interesting, and which could be most satisfactorily exhibited in the present imperfect state of the returns. It was thought better to have a few facts correctly presented in the tables than to attempt a more extensive plan which must have been executed more imperfectly. The particularity in the results is not so great as is desirable in several points of view, but is believed to be as great as, on the whole, can be attempted to advantage in the present state of the registration system in Massachusetts. The returns must be much more full, before they will afford a sufficient basis for comparison with the results in older countries, where a system of registration has for a long time been carried out to a great degree of minuteness and exactness.

In preparing the tables, the law has been strictly observed by including in them only those Births, Marriages and Deaths which occurred within the respective towns and cities, rejecting those which occurred in other towns. It sometimes happened that they were not found in those towns where the record of another town represented them to have occurred; in such cases they were not included in the tables. The number would have been considerably larger, had all been included which are exhibited in the returns. One exception, or seeming exception was made to this rule, namely, of persons dying "at sea," and where there was presumed to be no municipal record of Deaths and Burials. By following this rule, it is presumed that the number from without the limits of this Commonwealth, subject to registration here, would not differ widely from that of citizens of the Commonwealth, who would be subjects of registration elsewhere.

The population of each town, according to the United States census of 1840, has been inserted in the tables, for the purpose of enabling the reader, at one view, to compare the number of Births, Deaths and Marriages with the last enumeration of the inhabitants, and to see the comparative fullness of the returns of the several towns. In some of the towns there has been a great increase of the population since 1840, while a majority of them have probably remained nearly stationary.

The greater fulness of the returns required by the law of last winter, has occasioned a modification of the form of the Tables which were appended to the first and second Reports. It is believed, however, that the reader will be able easily to compare the results of the third with either of the previous years.

TABLE I relates to Births, and is divided into four parts. In the first part, under the heads of the respective counties, the towns are arranged in three classes; 1st, those whose returns were considered sufficiently fair to be embodied in the recapitulation by counties, in the second part; 2d, those which have made returns obviously imperfect, embodied with the preceding in the third part; 3d, those which have made no returns.

The first part of table I (pp. 1—18) exhibits against the name of each town its population in 1840, (which it was thought best to insert in this table, as also in tables II and III, so as to enable the reader to compare, at one view, the number of births, marriages and deaths with the number of inhabitants at that time); the number of births or midwifery cases in which a living child was born; the number of living children with the sex of each; the plurality cases, or births in which more than one child was born (of which at least one was born alive); the still-born; the number of children in each month; and finally the number of fathers whose occupation is stated, and not stated. This latter entry is made to show the fulness of the returns in this particular.

The second part (p. 19) contains a recapitulation of two hundred and sixty-three towns of the first class, whose returns are fair. In these towns, containing a population of 537,319 in 1840, there were 14,439 births, or 1 to 37.28, which is probably not more than three-fourths of the true number. It is much less than the proportion in many of the towns; for example, Chelsea, Boxford, Brighton, Cambridge, Milford, North Brookfield, Leyden, Rowe, Florida, Hinsdale, West Stockbridge, Quincy, Halifax, &c. The average proportion of births to population in England, for the four years from 1837 to 1841, was 1 to 32. In the Prussian states, it is calculated that in the fifteen years from 1820 to 1834, there was one child born to about 25 persons living. We may presume that there is annually on an average in Massachusetts, 1 child born to about 25 persons, according to the census of 1840; on this supposition the number would have been 21,675 in these 263 towns, instead of 14,563, which is only two-thirds as many.

The third part (p. 20), in addition to those in the second part, contains returns of 25 towns of the second class, and embraces two hundred and eighty-eight towns, with a population of 593,876 in 1840. The remaining 22 towns, with a population of 143,824, made no returns. The whole number of births was 14,633, producing 14,757 children, or 1 birth in 40.45 in these towns.

The whole number of living children born in the 288 towns, was 14,757, of whom 7,399 were males, 7042 females, and 316 whose sex is not stated. The proportion of the females to the males was as 100 to 105.07. It is worthy of remark, how closely this result, from returns which are imperfect, agrees with the proportion of the sexes in other countries.

In the Prussian states, during the 15 years from 1820 to 1834, there were born 7,593,017, of whom 3,906,544 were males, and 3,686,473 were females, or in the proportion of 100 females to 105.97 males. During this period, the excess of males was never below $5\frac{5}{9}$ per cent., and was only once above $6\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. per annum.

The number of still-born is only 27 on the returns of births. Besides these, there are a few mentioned in the returns of deaths.

The proper place of entering them is in the registry of births. They constitute an interesting part of the natural history of man, modified indeed by local circumstances, but do not form an element in the calculations relating to the value of life at any period. The above number of still-born is obviously far short of the true number. The number of still-born in the city of Boston was on an average more than 1 in 15 deaths, according to the bills of Mortality, from 1814 to 1843. Out of 43,034 deaths, including the still-born, 2,841 were registered as still-born.

The fourth part of table I (pp. 21, 22) relates to the Plurality cases, and shows, arranged according to counties, the number of births; the number of plurality cases, with the number of children born, their sex, and the still-born; the proportion of these cases to the whole number of births; the months in which they occurred; and the occupation of the father. It appears that besides three still-born cases, not included in the table, there were 121 of these cases, or 1 in 121, varying materially in the proportion in the different counties. Of these 121 cases, 118 were twin cases, producing 234 children, 2 were triplet cases, producing 6 children, and one was a case of four children, giving a total of 244 living children, besides two still-born. Of these 244 living children, 124 were males, and 120 females, or in the proportion of 100 females to 103 $\frac{1}{3}$ males, showing the proportion of females a little larger than in that of all the births returned.

The proportion of plurality cases to the whole number, 1 in 121 in the returns from the 288 towns, is considerably less than is found to prevail in other countries, and is less than is believed to prevail in this country. This proportion perhaps would have been increased, had the returns been complete. One physician in this country has attended 1600 cases, of which 1 in 90 was a plurality case. Dr. Collins in his Practical Treatise on Midwifery, p. 186, says, that in France the proportion is one in every 95 births; in Germany, one in 80; in England, one in 92; in Scotland, one in 95; but in Ireland, the proportion is one in every 62. Of 129,172 women delivered in the Lying-in Hospital of Dublin, 2062 gave birth to twins.

In cases of children designated as posthumous, in the marginal notes, the mothers were widows.

Table II relates to Marriages, and is divided into three parts. In the first part (pp. 23—39,) the towns are divided into those which have made returns recapitulated in the second part (p. 40) by counties, and those which have made no returns; and the tables exhibit, by counties, the census of 1840; the number of marriages; the condition of the parties; the number of the parties whose age and condition is stated; their aggregate ages; and the months in which the marriages occurred.

The 289 towns, from which returns of Marriages have been received, contained a population of 600,680 in 1840. The number of marriages was 4304, or 1 in 138 persons. This number is undoubtedly below the truth. In England, the average number per annum in the three years from 1838 to 1841, was 1 in 127 inhabitants, and in the metropolis, one in 101.

The third part (p. 41) shows the proportion of marriages to the population, and the number according to "condition," with the average age of the parties, for each county, and for the State. The average age deduced from 15,579 marriages, registered in England for the two years ending June 30, 1840 and '41, was of bachelors, nearly 25.45; of maids, 24.30; of widowers, 40.80; of widows, 38.95; of the men, 27.45; and of the women, 25.46 years.

Table III, relating to Deaths, is divided into two parts. The first part (pp. 42—59,) shows by counties the towns with their census in 1840 (those which have made returns being distinguished from those which have made none); the number of deaths, with the sex of the deceased; the number and sex of those that died in each month; the number whose age is recorded; and the aggregate ages and average age in each town.

The second part (pp. 60, 61) recapitulates by counties the 281 towns which have made returns. The whole number, which, excluding the still-born, is 8338, is doubtless too small for the aggregate population of 578,653, being only about 1 in 70, when probably it really is 1 in 55. The proportion in England in the three years from 1838 to 1841, was 1 in 45 of the population. Of 8338, 3712 were males, and 4173 females, besides 453 whose sex is not stated. The females exceeded the males by 461 in the general aggregate, and did so in every county except Nantucket,—Hampshire, where the difference is only 2,—and Suffolk, embracing only one town, Chelsea, in which the number of males is double that of the females, owing to the death of 34 males in the Marine Hospital. After deducting these 34 from the whole number of males, there would remain only 26 males to 27 females, and one not stated.

Of the 8338, the ages of 7723 are on the returns, whose aggregate is 260,622 years, 7 months, and 20 days, averaging 33 years, 8 months, and $28\frac{5146}{7723}$ days. The average age in the several counties, as well as in the several towns, is various. This result as to the average is not to be taken too strictly, but only as an approximation, or to be regarded as accidental, and not necessarily indicating a healthy or unhealthy section of the Commonwealth. The average age deduced from the registered Deaths in England for four years ending June, 1841, was 28.93 years. In the Prussian States it was 28.86.

It may be observed in regard to Suffolk County (embracing only the return from Chelsea), in which the average age was the least of any of the counties, that of the 85 whose age is specified, 34 were seamen, whose aggregate age was 1097, and average age 32 years and 3 months. The number under 20 years was 38, whose average age was between 3 and 4 years; and of the 47 whose age was 20 years and upwards, the average age was over 35 years.

The returns would seem to indicate that the months of August and September were the most fatal to human life, and that April, May, June and July were the most favorable.

Table IV exhibits in the first part (pp. 62—75) the approximate ages* and the number of deaths of either sex, in each month, by counties, and in the second part (p. 76) a recapitulation of the same for the whole State. This table corresponds to table III in the First, and table IV in the Second Annual Report.

* That is, the ages as arranged, in the columns, between 1 and 2 years, between 2 and 5, &c.

The third part (p. 77) shows the near agreement between the approximate ages in the several counties,* and the ages stated in the returns.

The fourth part (p. 78) shows the proportion of deaths, including the still-born, in the different periods of life, according to the returns in 1842, 1843, and 1844; and the fifth part (p. 79) the proportion of the aggregate deaths in these three years, as compared with the deaths in England, in four years, ending June 30, 1838 to 1841, and in the Prussian states in fifteen years, from 1820 to 1834 inclusive. From the comparison it appears that the returns in Massachusetts show the proportion of deaths under 10 years to have been less than in England or in the Prussian states; that from 10 and under 40 years, 26.24 per cent. died in Massachusetts, 20.57 per cent. in England, and 14.89 per cent. in the Prussian states, so that the proportion in the three countries, was nearly equal, of those who died under 40 years; that, of those who died at the age of 40 and under 50 years, the proportion was nearly the same in the three countries; that from 50 and under 70, the proportion was less, and from 70 and under 80, it was greater in Massachusetts; that from 80 and under 90, it was greater here than in England, and nearly double that in the Prussian states; and from 90 and upwards, also much greater in Massachusetts than in either of those countries.

Table V, relating to the occupations of the deceased, is divided into three parts.

The first part (pp. 80—91) corresponding with table II. in the First, and with table III. in the Second Annual Report, exhibits in separate columns for the several counties, 1, the number of persons deceased, whose ages are stated, belonging respectively to various occupations ; and 2, the aggregate age (expressed in years, months, and days,) of the whole number of each occupation deceased in each county. The occupations are arranged in eight general classes, all consisting of males (with the exception of a few teachers, domestics, operatives, and paupers,) and a ninth class consisting of females. The first class consists of those usually known as professional men and scholars ; the second, of capitalists and merchants, or of persons either living on the income of their property, or employed in some branch of commerce ; the third, of cultivators of the earth, whether as owners or not ; the fourth, of clerks and other persons (not belonging to the professions) living on salaries, or the avails of commissions ; the fifth, of artisans and mechanics ; the sixth, of persons performing domestic service and other manual labor, not included in either of the former classes, nor in the next succeeding ; the seventh, of mariners, and persons employed on ship board ; the eighth, of paupers, and other persons requiring guardianship. The ninth class specifies a few female occupations. At the close of this part (at the top of pages 86—91) are exhibited in separate columns, 1, the whole number belonging to such occupation, deceased in the State during the past year ; 2, their aggregate ages ; and 3, their average ages respectively.

* The approximate aggregate in Table IV, part 3, is obtained by multiplying the number in each column by the mean of the ages, and adding the products together; thus 1264 by $\frac{1}{2}$, 551 by $1\frac{1}{2}$, 566 by $3\frac{1}{2}$, &c.; and the approximate average is the quotient obtained by dividing this aggregate by the whole number. The Return Aggregate is the aggregate of the ages as they appear on the returns; and the average of years following, is the number obtained by dividing this aggregate by the whole number of the deceased whose ages have been counted.

The second part of table V (pp. 92, 93) is a recapitulation of the first, exhibiting a summary statement of the several facts, arranged under the heads of the nine general classes of occupations.

The third part (pp. 94—96) exhibits, (1) the approximate ages of persons deceased, belonging to the different occupations ; (2) a recapitulation of the same facts arranged under the nine general classes of occupations ; (3) a comparison of the approximate aggregate and average ages of persons deceased in the several counties, whose occupation has been returned, with their aggregate and average ages as deduced from the returns.

It will be perceived that the approximate aggregate of 1695 ages, among the occupations specified in the returns, is $1065\frac{1}{2}$ years more than the actual aggregate exhibited in the returns themselves, making a difference in the average of life in these occupations ($54.16-53.54$) of sixty-two hundredths of a year, or 7 months and $14\frac{21}{113}$ days. Had the table been constructed by putting in the first column those of 20 years and under, and in the second, those over 20 and not exceeding 30 years, &c., the approximate aggregate would have been reduced 1510 years, from 91,815 to 90,305, thus making the difference only twenty-six hundredths of a year, or 3 months and $6\frac{197}{339}$ days less than the actual average of individual life according to the returns themselves.

The approximate aggregate ages of 1639 persons in 1842, were 88,805 years, averaging 54.12 years; in 1843, the aggregate of 1781 ages was 99,045 years, and the average 55.61 years; in 1844, the aggregate of 1695 ages was 91,815 years, and the average 54.168 years. The approximate aggregate for the three years was 279,665 years, averaging 54.67 years among 5115 occupations.

The number of deaths registered under most of the occupations is small, and not sufficient to furnish an average age which can be considered as an approximation to the truth, but if a similar registration should be pursued for a series of years, the accumulation will afford valuable data for this calculation.

Already a sufficient number have been registered, of a few of the occupations, for establishing a very near approximation to the actual average age; an example is in the class of farmers or yeomen, including gardeners, of whom the number whose age is stated in the three years is 1995, whose approximate average age was 65.47 years.

It is to be regretted that the occupations of the deceased in some of the towns, as Lowell, Cambridge, Medford and Waltham, have been almost wholly omitted; as one great purpose of a Registration system is to determine the value of life in the different occupations, and from no source can more useful facts for this purpose be furnished than from the commercial and manufacturing towns.

Table VI. exhibits the nosological facts deduced from the returns, and is divided into three parts.

In the first part, (pp. 98—100) in a series of columns, one for each county, are arranged the deaths that have taken place during the last registration year, under the heads of the respective diseases, these being disposed under seven general classes. The second part (p. 101) is a recapitulation of the first, presenting a summary view of the facts in the several counties and in the whole Commonwealth, under the heads of the seven great classes of disease respectively. The third part (pp. 102—110) shows the period of the year, and of life, at which the various diseases proved fatal in the cases returned.

The descriptions of fatal diseases in the returns, continue to be far less definite than is to be desired.

Consumption is the grand receptacle for all lingering diseases, of whatever nature, which prove fatal. Fever is another convenient term to apply to diseases of an ambiguous or undetermined character. Dropsy is applied to effusions of water, whether arising from pleurisy, peritonitis, tumors, disease of the heart, or any other of its numerous causes. Liver complaints of all kinds and jaundice seem to be convertible terms; not to mention such as are entered under stoppage, sudden, infantile, old age, and not stated. This inexact and ambiguous designation of the causes of death, where only a symptom or effect of a disease is mentioned, instead of its true seat and nature, impairs the value of our tables, as it will that of tables made under any law, in any country. About some classes of disease, however, there can be no important mistake, and the tables respecting them are good as far as they go. Such are most of the epidemic and contagious diseases, cancer, casualties, croup, &c.

The following are some of the facts obtained from a combination of the nosological tables, prepared for this and the two preceding years.

Hence it appears that the greatest mortality has occurred in September (3051), and the least in June (2021); that the three successive months in which the mortality was greatest, were August, September and October (8491), and that it was least in May, June and July (6368). It also appears that more than one third (11,874) died before the age of ten years.

From this it appears that more than one fifth of all the deaths (28,615) are marked "consumption," or if we reject all except those which occurred between the ages of 10 and 50 (5 to 3), which is perhaps about the actual number of those who have died of tubercular phthisis, we still have about one ninth from consumption. The difference between the number of males and females is worthy of note, the latter exceeding the former by one third.

The greatest number of deaths occurred in the mild months of May and September, and the smallest in the cold months of November and January; and this appears to have been the case not only for the aggregate of years, but also for each individual year. This is a fact at variance with common opinion.

In some of the classes of diseases the deaths are about equally distributed among the months; but in others they prevail at certain seasons, as the following table will show.

MONTHS.

Diseases of the Respiratory Organs constitute more than one fourth of the whole, and prove fatal most in March (722), and least in August (493). The three most fatal successive months were February, March and April (2004); the three least, June, July and August (1525).

Diseases of the Digestive Organs constitute less than one eighteenth of the whole, and prove most fatal in August (239), and least in December (75). In successive months most deaths occur in August, September and October (600), and the fewest in November, December and January (236).

Epidemic and Contagious diseases constitute more than one fifth. They are most fatal in September (3051), and least so in June (2021); or in three months we have most in August, September and October (2013), and the fewest in April, May and June (990).

Among so many numerical statements and calculations, it is not improbable that some errors have escaped notice. I have observed a very few since some of the sheets passed through the press, but none of sufficient importance to make it worth while to call attention to them.

I have in several instances derived important benefit from suggestions in the communications of the town clerks, many of which are extremely judicious and valuable. I see improvements which might be made in respect to the arrangement and contents of the tables. The whole subject is still matter of experiment with us, and I had given it no particular attention till it became necessary for me to do so, in order to the execution of my duty under the law. Whatever deficiencies may be observed, I have admitted nothing, on which a question could arise, without seeking advice in the best quarters, or being sustained by the practice of the most approved foreign tables. In another trial, I should hope to satisfy myself better.

Which is respectfully submitted by

JOHN G. PALFREY, Secretary.
